6 of 6 people found the following review helpful. Beautiful photos, beautiful writingBy Customer Beautiful photos, beautiful writing, beautiful ideas on how to live better in the space you already have. 10/10 would sage again.2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. but enjoy the reading tremendouslyBy HAPPYSO far, I got a lot out of reading it for the first time already with making slight changes, but enjoy the reading tremendously. Change and tweak your life, not a bad idea at all. The pictures are fantastic and the people featured are inspirational, but not really my reality, which is fine because I like to dream.4 of 4 people found the following review helpful. Jersey Girl When did publishers get so lazy that they repeat the same photos throughout a book? Don't waste your money

Perfectly named style maven and City Sage blogger Anne Sage knows a wise truth: decorating our living spaces for our goals is the first step in making them happen. In Sage Living, she opens the door to covetable dwellings designed to boost the dreams of their occupants, from the sunny, open-air kitchen of a holistic nutritionist to the eclectic living room of a world traveler ready to put down roots. With page after page of stunning interiors, engagingly written home stories, and hundreds of design tips for every room, Sage Living goes beneath the stylized surface to help readers decorate for the lives they truly want.

"Looking past trends and decor for show, Sage Living goes deeper to explore how our homes help us connect, entertain, create, celebrate and grow with our friends and family." --Nathan Williams, Editor-in-Chief of Kinfolk magazine "What I love about this book is how it breaks down the relationship between our home and our happiness. It's no secret that our home makes us happy, and in turn our happiness makes our home, and this book points out the connection in a way that is relatable and doable. Plus, it's a reminder that perfection is totally boring -- the most interesting homes are 'flawed' yet completely compelling and inviting." --Emily Henderson, stylist, TV personality, and blogger About the Author Anne Sage is a lifestyle writer and creative director based in Los Angeles. Her blog The City Sage was named a must-read by Martha Stewart Living and she is also a cofounder of Rue, the celebrated online shelter publication. Emily Johnston is a lifestyle photographer in New York.
